

CO Researcher and CREDO Reference now linked via Reference Universe

Austin, TX--June 21, 2010

Paratext announces that comprehensive links to CQ Researcher to titles in CREDO Reference are now online and accessible through the Reference Universe service. These are among the most heavily requested additions to the service.

Links to over 800 issues of CQ Researcher are now online in Reference Universe, offering in-depth coverage of key political and social issues, including health, international affairs, education, public policy, the environment, technology, and the United States.

In addition, over 2 million citations to 390 titles found in CREDO Reference are now also up-to-date within the Reference Universe service.

Finally, additional titles from Gale's Virtual Reference Library from 2008-2009 are also being loaded into the system this month, bringing the total number of citations in Reference Universe to more than 25 million.

Reference Universe is the only comprehensive information service designed specifically to unlock a library's reference collection.

Paratext, established in 1993, publishes Reference Universe as well as online search products in government documents and history, serving the needs of scholars and librarians. Paratext is based in Austin, Texas.
